

Quality policy

COTTEX Trade s.r.o. (hereinafter referred to as "the organization") has been specialized since its inception for the purchase and processing of zinc waste and zinc scrap, trade in zinc waste, secondary raw materials and other products of zinc and zinc alloys. The purpose of the quality policy is to meet the organization's commitments and to share information that is strategic to the organization's intentions in managing and continuously improving the quality management system.

The strategic focus of the organization is the trade and processing of industrial zinc waste and zinc scrap, including waste from various alloys and the trading of secondary raw materials. From 2017, in line with the context of the organization, expanding the business of supplying zinc raw materials and zinc products to end customers. In the context of activities, the organization is primarily involved with renowned end-users of products, other waste producers and world producers of zinc, zinc alloys and other products or goods, including those of the organizations themselves, processed, developed or traded.

We are committed to delivering all products to individual customers according to their exact specifications and quality requirements, including the requirements of all other stakeholders, laws and regulations.

By combining experience with ongoing investments in innovative zinc processing, zinc product research and development, including investment in logistics and modern equipment for the transportation and processing of scrap, waste and secondary raw materials, qualitative targets are achieved and we want to be preferred partner for long-term and prospective cooperation with all customers.

The organization has a very flexible and experienced team, and one of the objectives of the quality policy is to maintain a high standard of staff and to continuously improve and expand awareness of workers. We are committed to training our staff, advising and supporting customers in both technical and legislative areas, thereby continually improving and developing a quality management system. At the same time, the by quality policy we are provides a commitment to meet the applicable requirements.

The internal and external aspects related to the above strategic focus of the organization, including the objectives of the quality and needs of stakeholders, are fully in line with the organization's context.

.....
Tomáš Dáňa – CEO
COTTEX Trade s.r.o.